proventis – Who we are

THE EFFICIENCY EXPERTS.

We're a strong team. We have the best programmers, developers and consultants. We think beyond project management because we're more than a software company. We provide consulting and software from a single source making our customers more efficient, faster, and more successful.

We are proventis.

YOUR PROJECTS IN GOOD HANDS

We want to make better project management possible for everyone. With this aim in mind, business administration graduate, Norman Frischmuth, founded proventis with a handful of ambitious associates in Berlin in 2001. Today more than 50 motivated staff work on professional project management solutions for companies from all business sectors at the company's headquarters in Berlin, and in Cologne and Stockholm.

Efficient project management and a clear organizational structure help us advance our own projects day by day, creating software solutions and consulting services, which provide our customers with a clear competitive advantage. Our core product is Blue Ant, a multi-project management solution with integrated project and resource management.

With our national and international partners, we support a wide range of customers. And we want to achieve even more, because we are convinced that with optimal project management, every company can become more efficient.

Blue Ant – our centrepiece

WE ARE ALL COMMITTED TO ONE PRODUCT: BLUE ANT.

When we all get behind an idea, something very special emerges. Blue Ant, the multi-project management software is the centrepiece of our company. It takes its name from hard-working ants. Strong, disciplined, and well organized, they represent shared tasks and an efficient exchange of information. They symbolize optimal project management.

MANAGE PROJECTS CLEVERLY

Blue Ant offers intelligent interaction of individual and multi-project management. The web-based, platform-independent software provides multi-tasking and time-efficient support for simpler and faster approval and reporting processes. Our customers benefit on many levels: Blue Ant reduces costs, improves the quality of projects and provides an overview of current projects in real-time. The software can be seamlessly integrated into existing IT systems and adapts to the needs of the customer.

Companies of all sizes work with Blue Ant: from small and medium-sized companies to large companies with more than 1,000 employees. Blue Ant is available as a cloud and in-house solution.

important benchmarks for us, too. That's why we're certified to ISO and PMI standards.

Sharing our know-how: we provide regular introductory, update and user training for project managers, controllers and administrators. Our customers receive invaluable knowledge and learn about the latest Blue Ant features and enhancements. In addition, we run free monthly webinars, which provide information on current project management topics and news about Blue Ant.

TAILOR-MADE SOFTWARE DEVELOPMENT

Ready for every task: with our experience in software development and migration projects, we develop powerful IT services for our customers from a single source. This results in solutions for individual requirements that go far beyond our standard Blue Ant.

Our commitment

WE TAKE RESPONSIBILITY.
BECAUSE SUCCESS IS NOT ONLY MEASURED IN NUMBERS.

Commitment over and above the normal working day: we encourage young talent, support social projects and provide training ourselves. We are happy to pass on our expertise and experience in process and practice-oriented project management. We cooperate with universities, contribute to specialist media and share our project management knowledge on our YouTube channel.

CLOSE TIES TO BERLIN UNIVERSITIES

We attach great importance to encouraging future project management talent. Since 2004, proventis has been cooperating with several Berlin universities. Our managing director, Norman Frischmuth, also lectures at various Berlin universities. He has been a member of the regional management of the GPM in Berlin, an association for the promotion of project management, since 2009.

SOCIAL COMMITMENT IN A TOURNAMENT

Every year, we bring sports and project management together: students from the Humboldt University in Berlin organize a beach volleyball tournament, gaining practical experience in the process. We take on the professional support of the students and the financing of the project. We also regularly support social projects with donations.

BECOME A PARTNER.

Together we make proventis stronger. Become part of our success and support us as a sales or cooperation partner in Germany and Europe.

SALES PARTNERSHIP

As a sales partner, you are actively involved in expanding our customer base. You receive a commission on the sale of licences, training, services and support. We will provide an introduction to Blue Ant and regular short courses for new versions. There is no charge for the sales partnership.

COOPERATION PARTNERSHIP

In cooperation partnerships, you take over the support of the customers completely, from acquisition right through to installation and training.
